St. Agnes Band Wins Top Honors

ST. AGNES SENIOR BAND took top honors in the fourth annual CYO senior championships on Saturday night. Shown above on field, they not only present a striking appearance; but their excellence in music was mainly responsible for their latest victory.

At the fourth annual CYO "Sound of Music" contest, last Saturday evening, St. Agnes Senior Band emerged victorious. By a score of 97 to 96.3 they topped the previous champions, St. William's band of Dorchester.

The Standstill contest, relatively a recent entry in the CYO music circuit, differs from the field competitions of the summer in that here the emphasis is completely upon the music played.

The Band proved equal to the challenge, and the program they presented was remarkable both for its difficulty and for its variety and appeal. As fitted the surroundings, the opening number was a true concert piece, the moving and powerful "Procession of the Sardars" from the "Caucasian Sketches" of Ippolitov. This was followed by Leroy Anderson's lively, but demanding "Bugler's Holiday".

Their final number brought back the hit piece of last year's Standstill, an impressive presentation of "Climb Every Mountain". The first two numbers were conducted by band's musical director, Mr. Edward Denon, and the last by Ann Sullivan.

Congressman Torbert Macdonald (D) of this district notified this paper on Wednesday that the General Services Administration will award an architect and engineering contract to Lord and Den Hartog associates of Boston for a building extension and modernization of the U. S. Post Office in Arlington.

Cong. Macdonald further stated that the drawings and specifications will be completed by September of this year.

In being informed of this development, James H. Doherty, Arlington Station Superintendent, stated, "It is indeed encouraging to us at the station that plans have progressed this far and that we may look forward to occupying the new extension by 1965."

Superintendent Doherty further commented, "To show the specific need for additional space, I would like to point out that when we first came into the present station in 1936, there were 29 letter carrier routes on a 2-trip basis. At present, there are 49 carrier routes on a 1-trip basis. This is almost a 100% increase in letter carrier service, handling and distribution of the mail."

Cong. Macdonald spearheaded the campaign for the appropriation to add to Arlington's present Post Office, several years ago. He has maintained his efforts and the final approval is a boon to Arlington.

The plans call for the extension of the present building back to the present boundary line of the property; and the purchase of the property immediately behind the present Post Office, which will extend out to Central st. This area will be for parking and vehicular facilities.

The modernization will include painting of the interior, fluorescent lights, letter carrier cases and an oil heating system to replace the present coal burner.

Macdonald Seeks Fed. Funds

SHOWN TALKING OVER MUTUAL PROBLEMS at a meeting at Dr. Roen's office Monday were, l. to r.: Supt. of Schools Roens, Carl Johnson and George Lincoln of the Historical Committee and Congressman Torbert Macdonald.

Congressman Torbert Macdonald of this District came to Arlington Monday to confer with Supt. of Schools Dr. Bert Roens regarding the Federal funds available to the Town through the Impact Area Bill.

Referring to the recent delay on the extension of the bill, Cong. Macdonald stated, "Personally, I will do everything I possibly can to see to it that an extension bill comes out. And I will do it as soon as I can."

He further commented, "I feel that such a bill, because it has worked so well in the past and because its need has been clearly demonstrated, will be passed."

He pointed out that there is a certain segment in Congress which favors a complete Education Bill as presented by the late President Kennedy. They will push their bill but there are so many phases of it that require ironing out that Cong. Macdonald feels passage this session is not likely. However, this could delay consideration of the Impact Area bill. Mention was also made that the closing of the Boston Navy Yard would effect Arlington's position in receiving the Federal Funds. In this regard, Cong. Macdonald expressed his belief that the Yard would remain in operation. Dr. Roens explained Arlington's program of re-training under the "manpower act." He stated it was too

Whose Election? Yours!

Another year and another election time rolls around. Speeches are being made, platforms being announced and plans are formulating by our political hopefuls.

And what are their plans? To serve their community.

And here is where you, the voter, becomes the most important factor of all. Without you, speeches, platforms, plans, — all preparations are worthless and futile.

Consider, for a moment, what prompts an individual to run for office. Eliminating the fractional minority who run for selfish reasons solely, we go on to the average candidate.

This man or woman is a responsible citizen with a background, usually, of participation in civic, veteran, fraternal and social organizations within the community. The background also indicates sound business capabilities, educational qualifications and a generally stable person. And, he wants to serve his community.

Then, those among us who seek public office, must conduct a strenuous campaign. This requires both time and money. It also entails the backing and assistance of tireless workers to spread and support the efforts of the candidate in his campaign.

Now, we come back to the rest of the citizens.

What have we at stake? We have every bit as much at stake as any one of the candidates. We also have a duty.

Without any question of a doubt, we have the duty to accord to each and every candidate our attention to his plans, ideas and suggestions. We must evaluate him and his program.

Then, we must vote.

The final results are up to you, the voter. Singular, THE VOTER.

Yes, a simple matter of addition — one plus one, plus one more and so on. The candidate with the most "ones", is the victor.

In too many elections, on local, state and national levels, citizens with the right to vote, do not take the time to do so.

However, complaints are freely made after election time about the results.

Let us, then in our own community, give our attention to the various candidates. Listen to their speeches. Meet them, if possible; and, as is our right, evaluate them.

Thus, we are prepared to vote. But, vote we must.

Also, don't forget your office holders after the election. Follow their activities. Then, if the one you vote into office does not live up to his promises and your expectations, all is not lost. Another election comes again, soon.

You might even enlist your friends and neighbors to vote for a candidate you think would do a better job. This is all up to you, the voter, each and every one of you.

Now, election time is here again and, this year, don't let it be the other fellow's election, use your vote — win or lose, make it yours.

WOMAN'S SOCIETY

Mrs. Raymond Udall, president of the society, conducted the business meeting in the Chapel Room. Elsie Seward was in charge of the devotional period.

Mrs. Roberts of the United Church Women announced the two meetings, one at 10:30 a.m. and the other in the evening, on the World Day of Prayer, coming in February. She explained by use of a world map the background of the World Day of Prayer.

Mrs. M. L. Johnson of West Lynn Methodist church gave a talk and showed pictures on "Travel With A Purpose". In 1960 she travelled with representatives of the Board of Missions on the United States to Japan, So. Korea, Taiwan, Hongkong and other locations in the Far East.

The annual meeting of Calvary Methodist church will be held Feb. 6. A dinner will be served by Paquinox with Mrs. William Hamilton, chairman.

COLLINS CORNER

At one time, a very popular song entitled "Please don't bite the hand that's feeding you" was being sung and played all over the country. It was aimed mostly at those people who were talking down our nation, and the word Communist was not being used as much as we hear it today.

But, that song could apply to many other activities, both business and sports. A few weeks ago we witnessed two of Boston's "sports", making the headlines.

One was Ted Williams, who stated "Baseball was stupid". The other, Russell of the Celtics, in an article in the Saturday Evening Post, where he said "I owe the public nothing, and I'm not going to smile if I don't feel like it, and I don't feel incumbent to set a good example to anybody's kids but my own."

Well, to each his own, but there were some very fine athletes before either of these two, who certainly did not entertain the above thought.

The memory of Babe Ruth will always remain in the minds of those who saw him, and it was thrilling to see him crossing home plate after hitting a home run raising his cap to the crowd with a big grin on his face.

Mr. Williams never did give that thrill to the paying crowd in his years with the Red Sox. He was in the entertainment world, and people who attend the opera or theatre can never imagine any star refusing to take curtain calls.

On of the fondest memories we all cherish is the picture of President Kennedy with his infectious smile and cheery wave of the hand as he travelled all over the world; but again we say, "to each his own."

Russell has many rightful complaints; but he seems to become very bitter indeed, especially when he says he doesn't have to show a good example to any kids except his own. If all fathers in the world took this attitude it would be a very sorry one for kids to grow up in, and if Russell would sit down some time and listen to another great athlete talk he might change his mind.

That man is Jesse Owens who won four medals in the 1936 Olympic games in Germany, and so enraged Hitler that he left his box before he would be obliged to present the awards to an American Negro.

Owens now is engaged in youth work in Chicago and was in Boston last week to present a trophy to Pavvo Nurmi at the B'nai B'rith dinner. As usual, he stole the show, for here is a real American who could set a fine example for many "chip on the shoulder", thin skinned, complainers.

Some years back, a great negro actor named Bill Robinson danced his way into the hearts of millions and was mourned by all when he died. He took many curtain calls, and one of his favorite lines when he wished to get off stage was "excuse me folks I must go now and take my makeup off."

And people loved him for it and laughed, and he went off laughing also.

That Man About Town By MAT

With the entry of Joseph Daley in the run for School Committee, things will take a lively turn. This is no news to the three re-running incumbents: Allen, Kent, Porteus. Spice is added by another challenger, Constance Ferrante.

And, the surprise move of Tommy Rawson going for Selectman must have startled Billafer and Feeley. Just who will get hurt the most, we do not know.

Although Tommy has never been able to regain his seat on the Board, we do know that he has a hard core of supporters, almost the "untouchables". It is fairly impossible that many will "defect" to the Billafer or Feeley camps.

Each untouchable has two votes (or a bullet!) and he will vote for one or the other (B. or F.). So, with this split, the coming storm looks serious for all hands aboard. Incumbent Arthur Saul is safe.

ly in port—as of now.

In a way, we are somewhat glad that the Selectman's race will not result in a single battle between two talented young men. And, speaking of age, Billafer points out, we hear, with sensible force that he is about the same age (six months or so) as U. S. Senator Ted Kennedy. Feeley is a few years younger.

Going back to the School Committee and speaking of a bit of liveliness, it should be remembered that Joe Daley was the guy whom Town Moderator Corcoran was unable to gavel down at a recent Town Meeting. Ruled "out of order" several times, Daley merely said, "prove it," and kept right on talking. In fact, we thought Daley was on proper ground.

So, we might have quite an annual election, after all. For sure, nothing is sure in politics.

Club Plans Special Events

Special events for all Boys' Club members and their families have highlighted the activity at the Arlington Boys' Club since the first of the year.

The next feature will be a "Family Night" which will be held Jan. 31, at 6:30 p.m. All Boys' Club members—girls as well as boys—are invited to bring their parents, friends, relatives, etc. with them to use the entire facilities.

It is suggested that parents dress appropriately and bring bathing suits, towels and sneakers, if they plan to use the pool and/or gym. The Arts and Crafts rooms as well as the Games Rooms will also be open.

The stepped-up special activities began with "Rufftown" (previously reported in this paper) and included the "Small Fry" day held, Jan. 18.

275 club members brought their younger brothers and sisters to the clubhouse to enjoy a song fest by club members Dave Ryan and Harry Jones. Folk music was provided by Mary Gaebler. Many prizes were awarded to boys and their guests in participating in the many games offered. Cartoons were shown also.

The next "Small Fry" day will be held in February and will be a talent show—all are invited to participate.

The Father and Son Day sponsored by the Boys' Club Associates Sunday proved to be most successful. 400 boys and their dads participated in the activity. All of the dads who attended were invited to join the Boys' Club Associates and assist the Boys' Club by:

1—Volunteering on occasion.
2—Raising funds through the annual Boys' Club Associates Fair.

The next meeting of the Associates will be held Feb. 20. The guest speaker will be a military attaché to the United Nations who will be visiting at that time with Mr. and Mrs. George Baratta.

The Boys' Club Board of Directors announces that Donald R. Fry has been employed as the new Swimming Director. "Don", as he is popularly known by the boys, comes to Arlington with many years' experience in the Boys' Club field.

many races. They were taken in a light vein, and no one seemed a bit hurt.

Years ago John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants searched everywhere for a Jewish ball player, because of the tremendous Jewish population in New York. He finally came up with one named Andy Cohen, who was just a fair ball player. On the same club was a catcher by the name of Frank 'Shanty' Hogan from Somerville, Mass. And one day, the announcer said "ladies and gentlemen, Cohen now batting for Hogan" and from way up back in the stands came a loud voice saying "and Finnegan leaving the park".

This was told countless times and people laughed, and there was no bitterness.

OPPOSES BILAFAER

To MAT:

I would like to write a few comments on the candidacy of Mr. Billafer as a potential selectman.

1. He has been in this town — at least as far as his law practice is concerned — for approximately two years. This is hardly long enough for him to know our town — its problems and its future progress.

2. I heard him at a recent meeting before the Board of Appeals refer to a "fellow by the name of Mansfield."

Mr. Arthur Mansfield has been a leading citizen of this town and former publisher and editor of the Arlington News.

Mr. Mansfield certainly merits more respect! 3. Mr. Billafer was the recent campaign manager for Mr. Pellegrini, who has recently indicated that he was no longer a candidate for selectman.

4. Mr. Billafer, as I understand, is currently the attorney for Selectman Bullock.

5. We, the citizens of Arlington, are very definitely concerned about "conflict of interest in our state."

In a recent reference in your column and with which I heartily agree, this interest has reached "some cozy corners in our town."

Recently you wrote in the January 2, 1964 issue of the Arlington Advocate and I quote:

"As we have said many times, we believe conflict does exist. Selectman Bullock is a builder and appears before himself when he comes before the Building and Zoning Boards of Appeals — boards which the Selectmen appoint."

However, few seem to care enough to raise the issue. Maybe they will come the '65 election."

Why should the citizens wait until 1965 to correct what is obviously a serious political situation in this town?

In supporting the election of Mr. Billafer we are aiding and assisting Mr. Bullock in his "conflict of interest" as a current member of the Board of Selectmen.

Sincerely yours,

P.S. — You may print this letter in its entirety but I do request that my name be withheld. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to call me.

Robbins Branch Hits Record Circulation

Circulation statistics at the East Branch of the Robbins library climbed to a record high, topping 100,000 in 1963. The precise figure filed by Mrs. Evelyn Colcord, branch librarian, in her annual report was 100,802.

In addition to issuing and receiving back a phenomenal number of books and periodicals, the East Branch had a busy year in many other respects which included registering 593 new borrowers, answering 1733 reference questions and giving readers advisory aid in 2122 instances.

Although the branch serves adults and also young adults, it is the work with children there which has resulted in the largest increase of circulation in 1963. This was reflected in a gain of 2410.

The East Branch has recently been redecorated, and constant efforts are expanded by Mrs. Colcord and her assistant, Miss Marilyn Kenney, to maintain attractive displays for appropriate seasons and occasions.

Located at 175 Mass. Ave., the current hours of opening of the Branch are Monday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. also the Branch is open for adults Monday and Friday evenings 7 to 9 p.m.

Church School—

Two Arlington men are being reassigned to Chantute AFB, Ill., to attend the United States Air Force technical training course for aircraft maintenance specialists. The men, both of whom have completed basic military training here, are:

Airman Richard Ameral, son of Mrs. Antoneita O. Ameral of 28 Magnolia st., and Airman Paul R. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Dean of 25 Magnolia st.

They both attended Arlington High.

SKITCH HENDERSON plays the Tonight Show's new Lowrey organ, while Johnny Carson and Ed McMahon wait their turn to play around with it. The fun goes on, on WBZ-TV, this week. Melody Ranch, Inc., Water st., Wakefield, is the area's Lowrey dealer, the largest in the East.

The Bedford community chorus' production of Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" was enjoyed by capacity audiences last Friday and Saturday evenings.

Music Director is Robert A. Ball, resident of Arlington and music director of the First Baptist church. Stage director is Richard Stott and choreographer is Mrs. Carol Derleth.

The large cast is composed of residents of Bedford and surrounding communities, all non-professional with the exception of one, Marie Mann, well known nightclub entertainer.

Two more performances will be given on Friday evening, January 31 and Saturday evening, February 1. Information may be obtained from Robert Ball.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON

Mrs. G. Edward Wilkins, president, conducted the meeting and introduced a group of new members.

Mrs. Andrew Magnus, first vice-president and program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mr. William G. Read, of the Massachusetts Savings Bank council.

Christian Science

Getting to know yourself is a profound spiritual experience, said a Christian Science lecturer here Saturday Jan. 25.

To do this, he said, a person must first "gain a spiritual concept of himself, and see himself more nearly as God sees him." He must discover "the truth about man"—and learn the basic spiritual characteristics that belong to every individual.

Theodore Wallach was the speaker, under sponsorship of First Church of Christ Scientist, Cambridge.

Wallach told the audience it is important to keep a clear line of distinction between the physical view of man and the spiritual. He said the "spiritual sense" of man reveals his "actual spiritual being." It reveals man as "the noblest work of God, the divine conception of divine Mind," expressing God's own nature and qualities.

He said this is the concept of man that Christ Jesus had when "he told us plainly, 'The kingdom of God is within you'."

Once we begin to really grasp this underlying spiritual concept of ourselves, it has a great impact on our outward lives, the lecturer said.

It happens through prayer, he said. "Prayer is not so much asking God to do something, as a demand upon ourselves to conform to the spiritual facts of being."

"We find that we possess the spiritual freedom to think and act courageously, that we can prove our continuing security as a child of God, and find increasing capacity for sound wisdom."

"So much of what is done in business today is dominated by fear—fear that we will not get all that is rightfully coming to us, fear of the other fellow's injustice or unfairness, fear of competition, fear of what we think the other man is thinking, fear for the future and lack of security. All of these fears amount to an accumulation of the merciless pressures so evident in the business world today."

Turning to the home, he remarked:

"Of the many inconsistencies of the human mind, few seem more unreasonable than the apparent inability or unwillingness of those in some families to see the ones who are actually dearest to them."

"Know Your Town"

The following article is the second in a series of excerpts from the "Know Your Town" booklet published by the Arlington League of Women Voters in 1963.

Town Moderator — Job Description

The Town Moderator is elected every three years and serves without salary. It is his duty to conduct Town Meeting, announcing the votes on all Warrant articles, and controlling order at all times.

He appoints the Personnel Board, and together with the chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Trust Funds and the chairman of the Finance Committee, appoints the Finance Committee.

He also appoints special and investigating committees established by Town Meeting. A school building committee is a special committee; for instance, while the present committee to study the construction and operation of an incinerator is an investigating committee.

Board of Selectmen — Job Description

Arlington's five Selectmen are selected for overlapping three-year terms, for which they receive a nominal salary. The Board function as the Town's executive branch. As such, its most important responsibilities are the formulation of Town policy, the observance of state laws, and the administration of Town Meeting decisions where it has jurisdiction.

The Selectmen serve as the Board of Public Works and the Board of Survey. Working as these Boards, they deal with street acceptance and construction, placement of utility poles, sidewalks, storm drains, etc.

Other duties of the Selectmen include compiling the warrant granting of licenses and permits, appointing Election Officers, approving budgets, settling claims against the Town, furnishing jurors, and attending many hearings and town functions. They are also concerned with town traffic and safety.

in their true, spiritual nature—to separate the human shortcomings from the individual."

The need, he said, is to let understanding and joy come into our world through a "spiritual vision" that replaces suspicion and criticism.

He summed it up by quoting the founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, "The spiritualization of our sense of man opens the gates of paradise that the so-called material senses would close, and reveals man infinitely blessed, upright, pure, and free."

PARK AVE. CHURCH

The Park ave. Congregational church at its annual meeting on Jan. 22, voted to resettle a family displaced by urban renewal in Boston.

Through its social action committee, it will work in co-operation with the Boston Redevelopment Authority to find a new home and welcome the displaced family to the community.

The church congregation declared that by previous policy and practice, its membership is open to all without regard to race, class or ethnic background. It also reaffirmed its policy of calling ministers and employing staff without regard to race, class or ethnic background. These two motions were passed in response to a request of the national denominational body, the United Church of Christ, which has under taken a program for "Racial Justice Now."

The church members voted to adopt Mrs. Harriett Elliott of the City Missionary Society of Boston as inner city missionary, and to underwrite part of her salary. Charles N. Brennecke, senior deacon, presented a sub-parish plan for dividing the parish into smaller units for more effective ministry to the members and newcomers.

Emerson H. Newton, finance chairman, gave a five-year review of the finances of the church, including the financing of the new church building.

MEMOS from your Stylist

By: MR. GEORGE and MR. ANTHONY

Let's assume you have normal hair with no persistent problems such as those presented by too dry, too oily or too fine hair. Yours is an enviable condition and you will want to keep it that way.

A daily three-minute massage and the traditional 100 strokes of brushing will stimulate scalp circulation. Seven to ten days is a prudent span between washings and life and luster can be preserved with a light cream hair dressing and occasional conditioning treatment between shampoos. We might mention that when you wash, concentrate more on the scalp than on the hair.

We might also mention that you can travel for miles around and not equal the warmth and charm of a permanent or fresh, new hairstyle you can expect from JOSEPH'S BEAUTY SALON OF ARLINGTON, 208 Broadway, Phone MI 8-9772.

THIS WEEK'S HELPFUL HINT: Brushing the hair can be beneficial to the complexion as well. Dandruff and excess oils may aggravate some types of skin problems.

Rodenhiser Paces Arcadians To 6-1 Victory

The Arlington Arcadians, paced by a brilliant performance by ex-Olympic ace Dick Rodenhiser, rolled to a decisive 6 to 1 win over the Malden Hockey club in a Mass. hockey league game at Lynn, Tuesday.

Rodenhiser scored one goal, set up two others and acted as spark plug for the locals in the fast moving, penalty free foray.

John Chambers stole a loose puck in Malden territory and fed to Jack Cusack who in turn set up George Lambert for the first Arlington goal in the opening frame.

Again in the first period, Bob Lawden broke in to beat Glen Eberly in the Malden net after taking a pass from Richie Cavanaugh. Rodenhiser opened scoring in the second when he intercepted a Malden pass and raced in alone to beat Eberly on a pretty solo play. Cavanaugh made it 4 to 0 moments later on a pass from Lawden.

Rodenhiser set up goals by Callahan and Chambers in the third period to give the Arcadians a 6 to 0 advantage before Bob Quinn could break the ice for Malden and spoil Goalie Crosby's bid for a shut-out with three minutes left in the game.

DeMatteo placed second behind DeStefano.

Other point-getters for Arlington were Tom Spengler — second in the Mile; Jim Donahue — third in the 1000; Kevin O'Reilly — second in the 600; Jim Tiede — second, and Dan Kelly — third in the 280; John Dacey — third in the two mile; Pete Chaplin — tied for third in the High Jump; Bob Webb — second in the dash; Glenn Supernard — second, and Ron Brooks third in the 40 yard hurdles.

AHS Track Capt. In N.Y. Meet

Arlington High's track captain Bill D'Antuono, on the merits of a 5.6 second time in the fifty yard dash at the recent B.A.A. meet, has qualified to represent Arlington High at the National Schoolboy's Track and Field meet set for Madison Square Garden in New York on February 22.

Bill, who is considered by his track coach, Jim Kelley to be the best 50 yard dash man in the last twelve years at Arlington High, will also carry the school's colors at the Mass. State meet on Feb. 1.

Red Wings 3, Leafs 0
Tom Blouin and Wayne Ogden, the rugged Wings, defensemen, were the big guns as the Wings bombed the Leafs 3-0. Blouin scored first as he banged home a loose puck in the Leafs' crease. Ogden made it two when he drilled home a 20 foot screen shot. Blouin got his second goal on a long shot that hopped through the goalie's pads. Bob Shea and Ogden earned assists.

Hawks 1, Bruins 0
Jim Nadeau proved to be a good clutch man and enabled the Hawks to edge the Bruins 1-0. The Hawks were fighting to stay on top but the Bruins were stubborn and made it tough to the end. With about two minutes left, Tom Finnegan slipped the puck to Nadeau all alone in front of the Bruins' net and he tapped it home. Tom Cook also gained on assist on the goal. Dulling, the Hawks' net minder, made two great stops.

Maroons 5, Rangers 0
Led by Bernie Quinlan, the high flying Maroons trounced the Rangers 5-0. Billy Thyne scored the first Maroon goal on a breakaway from his own end which he finished off in brilliant fashion. Bernie Quinlan scored from a scrimmage.

W.C.C. Readies For Curling Invasion

The 10th annual International Borspiel will be held at the Winchester Country Club, Feb. 13 thru Feb. 16.

As usual, the field will be studded with stars. Heading a large contingent of rinks from Canada will be Arthur Limerick, two-time winner, and his team from Fredrickton, New Brunswick; also last year's finalist Bill Fuller of Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Although the Canadian teams are strong they will find formidable opposition from two local rinks from Winchester.

Qualifying to play for the home club will be one of the East's best skips, Paul Sheeran, also a two-time winner of this event.

Paul will have a strong team which includes Bob Roundey, Bill Croston and Jack Martel. The other team includes the famous Wilcox Brothers, Jim and Tyke, who have Gary Trippett and Ed Frost at the one and two position.

Other teams from all over the East, from Washington, D. C. to Maine, are expected.

Scully Leads AHS Hoopsters To Victory

Arlington High's basketball team extended its win streak to three straight last week, catching Cambridge Latin 61 to 49 and rolling 55 to 42 over Newton South.

Down 15 to 9 after one quarter, the locals came roaring back to score 18 in the third quarter and 19 in the fourth against Latin. Arlington took an early 9 point lead against Newton South and never looked back, hitting for 36 from the floor and 19 from the foul-line.

Captain Peter Scully was high man in both contests, netting 15 against Cambridge and 14 in the Newton South game.

Sacred Heart of East Boston downed the St. Agnes Clippers 3 to 1 in a CYO Hockey league game Sunday, and moved one full game out in front of the Northern Division.

St. Agnes dropped to second place by the loss, now must bid for a play-off berth and another chance at Sacred Heart.

AHS Hockeymen Win Eighth Straight

The Arlington High hockey team moved one step closer to the GBI championship by edging Cambridge Latin 2 to 0 at the Boston Arena, Saturday.

The win extended the locals undefeated streak to eight games and presented goalie Bill Langone with his sixth shutout of the season. He has now allowed only two goals while his mates have tallied 43 times.

Brookline and Newton both won their rounds to remain just two points behind league-leading Arlington.

Cambridge goalie Fred Ritau came up with his best performance of the season, making 26 saves against the Burnsmen and personally preventing the game from turning into a rout.

Larry Cappello took Ed Ronan's pass and slid a 12 footer past Ritau to open the scoring at 3:13 of the first period. From that point until the opening moments of the third frame, the Cambridge netminder frustrated all attempts by the Spyponders to break the game open.

Defenseman Bob Carr scored the insurance marker early in the last period with a 35 foot blast from the point that just caught the inside corner of the net. Cappello collected an assist on Carr's goal.

This Saturday, Feb. 1, at noon, Arlington hosts Somerville in a bid for win number eight.

Some Bread And Butter Running And A New Position

Some fine bread-and-butter running at a familiar position during the regular season and then an emergency — a new position — and some pretty big shoes to be filled. This is a capsule version of the last football season experienced by Arlington's Paul Luciano, a member of last fall's undefeated, untied Northeastern University football team.

Running from the halfback slot, a position which he had been filling for seven previous football seasons at Arlington High School and Northeastern, Paul gained 135 yards on 35 carries for a 3.9 average and proved an outstanding blocking back as the Huskies rolled over the eight opponents on their regular schedule to compile the first undefeated, untied season in the school's history.

This fine record merited the team a bid to the Eastern Bowl and a large headache for Coach Zabalski when it was learned that Bob Capadona, the Huskies' leading rusher and, indeed, one of the top fullbacks in the East, could not play in the post-season game because of NCAA rules governing transfer students.

The answer to the problem was, 5'9" 190-lb. Arlington halfback Luciano, who was now to become a converted fullback against Eastern Bowl foe East Carolina College.

For almost a month, Paul endeavored to learn all he possibly could about the fine art of fullbacking and his efforts earned him the nod from Zabalski as starting fullback for the bowl contest. He freely admits that he did not take to his new position as he always had to his more accustomed halfback slot. "I didn't enjoy playing fullback as much as I always had halfback," says Paul, "probably since it was a totally new position to me."

Father N. U. COACH
When this Arlington product came to Northeastern after being a three-sports standout at his alma mater — track and baseball as well as football — he joined another member of his family who had quite a bit to do with football at Northeastern. His dad, Eric, was line coach of the Huskies, a position he held until the start of last fall, when he accepted the same job at Holy Cross.

Now a full-time student in the Class of 1964, Paul will graduate in June. An education major, he is currently teaching at Somerville Junior High School. A serious student, he plans to enter Boston University's Graduate School in Education after getting his Northeastern degree.

Paul is not very optimistic about Northeastern repeating their undefeated, untied season next year. "I think the team will have a tough time next season and it will take a lot of sweat on the part of the players if they hope to be as successful as the squad was this past fall. Only one of the eight teams we played last season had a winning record and this is pretty unusual. Next time around, these same squads are going to be looking at us with blood in their eyes."

For Arlington's Paul Luciano, four years of football at Northeastern have been indeed gratifying and the memory of playing for an undefeated, untied ball club, one that earned the first bowl bid in the school's history, is not one that fades quickly.

Town Manager Affirms Tolerance

Town Manager Edward W. Monahan is one of the officials of large and small communities all over the United States who have expressed confidence in the efforts of their own local areas to achieve tolerance and goodwill toward all.
Monahan listed a town brotherhood commission, inter-faith conferences, participation of people and public officials in dedications of new churches and church additions regardless of church affiliations of the participants and general endeavors to understand and respect the views of others. "We are all God's creatures," he affirmed.

In connection with an article in the January issue of the Reader's Digest entitled "This Nation, Under God," an editorial message, the town officials were questioned by the magazine regarding their feelings on today's political and moral climate. Their answers overwhelmingly affirm their belief that the United States is indeed a "Nation, Under God," as suggested by the words of Abraham Lincoln. Said Monahan, "Regardless of errors of commission and omission, as a nation we are dedicated to democratic process under God."

Many municipal officials joined with leaders of the major faiths in proclaiming the first Sunday in January as "This Nation, Under God" Sunday as the start of a month-long emphasis or rededication.

As part of the movement, President Lyndon B. Johnson sent a message to the editors of the Reader's Digest calling on his fellow citizens to take part in re-affirming their basic moral convictions. In his statement President Johnson said, "These past weeks have been a term of anguish and sorrow for our nation—indeed, for the whole world. With our grief has come the realization that we need to re-dedicate ourselves to lives of moral strength and purpose."

In their response to the Reader's Digest questionnaire, the officials surveyed were nearly unanimous in stating that the America's public schools could play a greater part in helping future citizens feel dedicated to the concepts of the founding fathers. Town Manager Monahan suggested this be done "by endeavoring to inculcate in the minds of students a wholesome regard for the views, race, color and religion of others." He added the reminder, "There but for the grace of God stands I."

Fuel Savings Tips

With the six-state region hard in the grip of winter's cold weather, the New England Fuel Institute offers 12 timely steps for the householder to follow in order to secure the most heat from the least fuel.

Before retiring for the night, set the thermostat about seven degrees below the daytime setting. Over a heating season, this will save a considerable amount of fuel. This nightly set-back should be consistent if savings are to be achieved.

Lower the thermostat seven degrees during the day when no one is at home.

Close radiators or registers in rooms that are being aired. Do the same with unused rooms. Be sure to close the door, of course.

Be certain the attic is closed off. Remember—heat rises.

When you open bedroom windows at night, close the door to the room, to keep the rest of the house warm.

Have your oil burner and heating system checked once a year to insure top operating efficiency.

Keep window shades down or blinds closed at night. This will provide additional insulation and prevent further loss of heat through the window.

Do not place furniture, rugs, draperies, etc., where they cover or block the flow of heat from radiators, convectors or registers. Such ob-

Seat-Belts Costs $100 Million

Motorists buying new cars during 1964 will dig into their pockets for an additional $100 million dollars, which represents the cost of seat belts now standard equipment on virtually all new cars, according to the ALA.

The increase will average $10 to $13 dollars for most cars but luxury lines will run jeets interfere with heat circulation and distribution.

Repair or replace leaky hot-water faucets. When using hot water, turn the cold water on first, then slowly open the hot water faucet until the desired temperature is reached. This will save considerable amounts of hot water.

Appropriate weatherstripping and caulking of joints and seams at windows and doors, etc., can save much fuel. Storm windows and doors and adequate insulation are fuel cost cutters, too.

On warm-air heating systems, replace air filters at least once a year and clean frequently. This will prevent reduction in the amount of heated air delivered.

If you have a hot water or steam heating system, check to be sure the water in the boiler is clean and free of dirt or grease. Radiators should be checked from time to time and vented, so that air collected in them will not prevent hot water from flowing freely.

$21 to $22. Seven million new cars are expected to be sold during 1964, said the ALA.

"Unfortunately," said ALA Safety Director, Philip C. Wallwork, "this $100 million will be thrown down the drain unless the use of seat belts can be made mandatory as well as the purchase of them."

"We wish we could foresee a decrease in highway deaths because of the compulsory purchase of seat belts but we do not believe this will happen. The same amount of money spent on improving the skill of the driver would give far greater results," Wallwork said.

LIVING with your HEART

A COMMUNITY SERVICE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS HEART ASSOCIATION

The Massachusetts Heart Association, in an unprecedented step, has devoted the cover and opening pages of its annual report to a warning against cigarette smoking.

The report, released today throughout the Commonwealth, was titled "A Message In The Public Interest."

Relegating its annual summary of its year's work to a position of lesser prominence, the MHA launched its report with the following message: "For the first time, the American Heart Association has gone on record... in favor of active steps to discourage cigarette smoking."

"Its reasons... seem so compelling that the MHA urges you to read these findings and, after thoughtful consideration, to make your personal decision on this vital issue in terms of your own future health and life."

The report points out: "Population studies have shown that death rates in middle-aged men from heart attacks were from 50 to 150 per cent higher among heavy smokers than among non-smokers."

It cited a resolution of the AHA board of directors which said:

"Although the statistical association between heavy cigarette smoking and increased mortality and morbidity from coronary heart disease does not prove causal relationship, the Board believes there is sufficient evidence of the harmful effects of cigarette smoking to warrant the AHA and its affiliates and chapters joining with other health agencies in educational programs to discourage cigarette smoking by the general public, with special emphasis on teenagers and persons who have high blood pressure, elevated blood cholesterol, signs of arteriosclerosis or a family history of heart attacks or strokes."

"Additionally, the AHA is well aware of the relationship of heavy cigarette smoking to chronic pulmonary disease and cancer of the lung. Since these diseases are major public health problems, the Board believes they provide additional reasons for the above recommendations."

Among MHA-sponsored research projects over the past year was one which indicated a definite relationship between heavy smoking and pulmonary emphysema, a fast-growing and serious disease.

The MHA, additionally, is cooperating with other major health agencies in appraising the possibilities and potential of programs directed against smoking, especially among the young.

More than $800,000 in AHA and MHA funds have been channeled directly into research in Massachusetts, the report divulged. Periodic reports are made to the public by the MHA of results of its research programs, many of which have ranked high in lifesaving medical-surgical breakthroughs. Nearly 100 projects have been aided.

Major programs of public and professional education and community service are outlined in the report.

The public's attention is directed also to the fact that the Heart Ass'n is a leader among voluntary agencies in the use of uniform accounting to provide the public with an accurate yardstick with which to gauge the Association's stewardship of donated funds.

"Your Heart Ass'n," said Tufts Medical School Dean Joseph M. Hayman Jr., outgoing president, "has one goal—the ultimate conquest of diseases of the heart and circulation and the saving of life and maintenance of health to the utmost possible degree as we pursue that goal."

DALLIN PTA

The first session of the Mothers' Discussion Group conducted by Daniel Wolf, A.C.S.W., psychiatric social worker in the psychological counseling department of the Arlington Public School, was held Jan. 21.

Mothers who have children in kindergarten, grades 1, 2, 3, and 4 are cordially invited to attend any of these sessions to be held every Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Discussions are centered around the subject of the pupil and his learning in School, in the community and in the home.

Mother's had the opportunity to discuss every day problems. Mr. Wolf pointed out that in the life of most every parent, there comes a time when a bit of advice or suggestions on how to handle an irritating situation can be most invaluable.

"RUSSIA" by Wassily Kandinsky, "Butterflies" by Fernand Leger and "Spain" by Joan Miro, part of the exhibition, "Contemporaries in Color" at Robbins Library through February, arranged by Miss Ellen P. Wiese, Curator.

The month of February marks the first anniversary of a new venture for the Robbins Print Collection.

The collection, which houses its 150,000 engravings, etchings, and lithographs in the recently opened Music and Art Gallery in the main Robbins library, is equally the administrator of a small fund for enlarging the scope of art activities in Arlington.

It is to the original donor of the prints, Winfield Robbins, and to the Misses Cairn and Ida Robbins, who continued his philanthropy, that Arlington owes the opportunity of becoming today a focal point for the enjoyment of the visual arts west of Boston.

The Robbins Art fund provides both for the periodic acquisition of new prints and for the expenses entailed in borrowing from out-of-town collections. It is the latter potential which the Collection has begun to realize during the past year.

From the Kennedy Galleries, in New York, came an opening exhibition designed not only to display prints of quality but to demonstrate the variety of productions possible in the medium of graphics.

In June, the Boston Public Library contributed with a loan of prints by the landscape painters of Barbizon, supplementing the exhibition at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and supporting a group of landscape etchings from Robbins Print collection.

December brought "Five Centuries of Religious Prints" from the George Binet Print collection.

Local artists have felt the attraction of the Robbins Gallery and have enhanced it with generous loans of their own work. A competitive show of Arlington watercolorists, in May, was followed by a summer feature of artists whose return had been requested by public ballot, including Mrs. Antoinette Susan King, Mrs. Eve Anoush Medzorian, and Charles H. Richert.

A young Arlington photographer, Stephen Gersh, exhibited in November the fruits of exceptional talent schooled under Ansel Adams. His show was so popular that another exhibition of "art photography" is planned for April, this one by a neighbor of Arlington, Paul Petricone, of Bedford.

The Fogg Museum and the Busch-Reisinger (Germanic) Museum, both of Harvard University, have graciously lent a group of outstanding works by many of the brightest names of the twentieth century. Paul Klee and Kaethe Kollwitz, Kokoschka, Kandinsky, Leger, Miro, and Chagall are just a few of the artists whose imposing and challenging compositions are glittering from the winter walls of the Robbins Art Gallery. Realist, expressionist, abstractionist, cubist, fantasist—each makes his unique appeal to library visitor. These will be shown through February.

This month, when a drab sky cries out for contrast or a shining white day needs a complement, the Robbins Gallery offers "Contemporaries in Color."

Petroleum Exec. At Arl. Kiwanis

The public generally is unaware the average service station not only commands one of the lowest fire insurance rates but also boasts an enviable traffic safety record, Richard W. Bunzel, spokesman for the Massachusetts Petroleum Council, told the Arlington Kiwanis Club recently at Panasia's Restaurant.

Bunzel added that service station dealers today are an important and respected part of the local community.

"About 96 per cent of the nation's 200,000 stations are operated by local independent businessmen," he said. Each employs an average of 3 to 5 persons and does an average yearly business volume of almost $85,000. So it's clear, they play an essential role in the community's economy."

Bunzel pointed out that service stations pay heavy real estate taxes and thus have considerable stake in the welfare of their communities.

On the subject of fire hazards, Bunzel said fire insurance companies give service stations a much lower rate than restaurants, grocery stores and even doctors' offices.

The fact is, recent studies show the frequency of church fires is almost the same as that of service stations," declared Bunzel.

He said the National Fire Protection Ass'n has never had a single reported instance of gasoline in an underground storage tank at a station catching fire or exploding.

Because of this excellent record, the NFPA now has no limitations whatever on the size of underground tanks at service stations, he added.

Bunzel also said service stations have such a low incidence of traffic accidents, most agencies that gather accident statistics don't even bother to segregate figures on accidents in and around service stations.

And he noted that those who feel there are too many stations probably aren't aware there actually are 21,000 fewer stations today than in 1939.

"At the same time," he said, "there has been an astounding increase of 48 million vehicular registrations—and gasoline demand has tripled."

Bunzel declared the majority of service stations are a credit to their community. He said the average station is as well-maintained as any other retail business.

"Unfortunately, the few poorly managed stations frequently hurt the good name of the many well-managed stations," he said.

Bunzel pointed out a service station dealer's house-keeping chores are much more arduous and demanding than most other retail businesses.

"Nevertheless, the average dealer realizes the need for keeping a neat and clean place of business," he said.

"Those who don't, run the risk of losing their customers and attracting few new ones. More often than not, the highly competitive nature of gasoline marketing convinces the operator of the need for cleanliness," he added.

Leads Crimson

Leo Scully

The early season success of the Harvard University basketball team can be greatly attributed to the steady backcourt leadership of Arlington's Leo Scully. The junior guard has continued the outstanding play which made him one of the Ivy League's top backcourt men last winter.

The six ft. plus, 175 pounder leads a quintet which has compiled a 5-2 record in the non-league race.

"Scully could take his place among the best guards in the Ivy League this season," says Crimmon head coach Floyd Wilson.

Blessed with a great pair of hands which make him a clever dribbler and ball handler, Scully is particularly effective as a defensive ball-hawk.

As a sophomore, Leo scored in double figures in 13 games with a high of 18 in the Crimmon's 62-58 win at Brown. Scully also boasted a 41.8 field goal percentage mark, and topped the squad at the foul line with a .713 average.

This winter, Scully has continued his consistent play by averaging 9.3 points per game with a 43.1 per cent field goal average.

"We look to Leo to lead and provide cohesion for our offense," says coach Wilson. "If we are to have a successful league campaign, Scully must continue to play his consistent floor game."

A rather soft-spoken young man, Scully is an extremely serious student who devotes most of his study hours to his field of concentration, economics.

"I have always been interested in mathematics and economics," says Leo, "and I hope that I will be fortunate enough to gain admission to a business school in this area. I'd like eventually to go into business as a career."

On the subject of basketball, Leo feels that "Harvard has the potential to give any team in the Ivy League a battle on any given night. Our team has good overall balance and we seem to be working together better than ever before."

The Crimson begins its 14 game Ivy League basketball schedule when it hosts Cornell and Columbia this weekend in back-to-back encounters at Harvard's Indoor Athletic building.
